

2025 Graduate Climate Conference - Public Poster Session -

Explore Climate and Ocean Sciences with Graduate Students from around the world for public posters and lightning talks and discover the science shaping our planets' future!

This event is free and open to everyone!

Register here!

When: Friday, 07th November, 2025
3:00 pm - 5:30 pm

Where: Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, Woods Hole, MA

Participation for registered visitors only - room details will be shared upon registration

Why Care about Climate Science?

Climate research explores how our environment functions, how it is changing, and how local communities and ecosystems are affected and can adapt.